LIVES OF DEEP SECLUSION.

The Order of the Buried Alive, in Rome. the Convent of the Sepolte Vive, is a rem nant of the middle ages in the life of to-the privilege of an entrance within, one after another, the five iron doors, and of talking with the superior through the thick swath. ing of a woolen veil, but ordinary communication with the convent is carried on through the barrel, which fills an opening in

Over the barrel is written, "Who will live the gate every earthly care." You knock at the barrel, which turns slowly around till it shows a section like that of an orange from which one of the quarters has been cat out. You speak to the invisible sister, who asks your will; and she answers you in good Italian and cultivated intonation. You hear the voice quite distinctly, but as if it were far, very far away. She is really separated from you only by a slender slice but she is absolutely invisible. Not the smallest chink is visible between you and her. Sounds travel through the barrier, but sight is absolutely excluded.

These nuns live on charity, keeping two Lents in this year-one from November to Christmas, the other the ordinary Lent of Catholic Christendom. Living, therefore, on charity, they may eat whatever is given to them, saving "flesh meat," during the fasting time. If you take them a cake or a dred and fifty acres, having a capacity of loaf of bread, a bottle of wine, a roll of chocolate bon-bons, a basket of eggs, it is all good for them.

They must be absolutely without food for dollars. I watched this mine's four monitwenty-four hours before they may ask help tors work. The water which passes through from the outside world. And when they these monitors in twenty-four hours is fifty have looked starvation in the face, then per cent. more than the total water supply they may ring a bell which means: "Help for the city of San Francisco in the same us! we are famishing." Perhaps you take length of time, Each monitor throws a them nothing eatable, but you place on the stream of water eight inches in diameter, ledge of the cut orange, by which you sit, supplied by an eighteen-inch pipe under s some money, demanding in return their four hundred foot pressure. What this "cartolini," or little papers. The barrel means will be better understood when I say turns slowly round, then back again, and that I saw one stream directed against a you find on the ledge where you had laid bowlder weighing between three and four your lire a paper of "cartolini." These tons, and the bowlder was thrown a disare very small, thin, light-printed slips, tance of thirty feet. I saw rocks weighing neatly folded in tiny packets, three to each five pounds thrown against the stream and packet, which, if you swallow in faith, will they were thrown off as if they had struck a

One of the pretty traditions of a dozen firemen struggling with a single Rome is that each sister has her day, when fire-hose nozzle, I could not believe that she throws a flower over the convent wall as these monitors could be easily controlled Please give us a call and see our large store a sign to her watching friends that she is until I tried it myself. BRUTAL TREATMENT.

There is a good deal of indignation in San Francisco about the brutal treatment of a soldier belonging to the garrison on the island of Alcatrez, who had the temerity to In the canton of Geneva, Switzerland offer a young Lieutenant an explanation of every country schoolmaster is required to a fight that had occurred several days pre- know something of agriculture and natural viously. His hands were chained, and when suffering extorted groans from him, he was send Dr. Dye's CELEBRATED ELECTRO-VOLTAGE gagged. PRACTICING ECONOMY.

"Would you mind standing here until go and get a cigar?" he asked. "Of course not," she replied; "but don't you think, Henry, that smoking is offensive, and that it will be easier practicing economy after marriage if it is practiced during courtship?" "You are right, dear," he said. "I shan't smoke any more." And she looked a bushel of love at him, as they resumed their stroil. They came to an ice-cream saloon, and he said: "There now! I meant to treat you to ice-cream; but as you say it is best to practice economy during courtship. Ten cents for a cigar, thirty cents for two ice-creams, Itwenty cents for orangessixty cents saved in a single night. Let's go over to the fountain and get a drink of water. THE SUCKING PIG.

Old Vienna is fast disappearing; the small-windowed houses, with the heavy gables and carvings, the squat pillars and overhanging porticos are suffering from the incurable complaint of age. Cracks and bulges betray their rickety condition, the trembling walls have to be shored up with beams preparatory to being pulled down altogether. Some of the hoary tenements do not even give warning, but come down with a crash, as if struck by apoplexy, and then the inmates are much inconvenienced,

There has been of late quite an epidemic among these venerable buildings; they seem to have made up their minds to die sa famille, the result being that many streets are now impassable by reason of much protecting woodwork. In a few years' time the old haunts, so rich in memories and associations, will nearly all have been swept away. In their place rise lofty six-floor mansions of iron and marble, large windowed and doored, as if destined for the abode of giants. But the gemuthliche Wiener Kind regrets his life-long haunts, his cozy vaulted cafe and restaurant, with the familiar tables and pegs, the gray, ivied count, where he has poured away so many gallous of lager and Pilsner in hot summer time. Such a snug hole closed its doors forever a short time since, in obsdience to the stern mandate of the Town pleasant den, with its thick walls and latticed windows, its extraordinary pictures of long-dead Austrian warriors, and its ancient tile-stove, will all be swept away in a short time, and another relie of old Vienna will be gone. But, i' faith, and we celebrated the funeral rites right worthily. Last, but not least, was the symposium of yesternight, and some grew sentimental about the old walls. Each guest got a souvenir of the place a smoky pictura, or a quaint stone jug, or an ancient table, elbow-polished and covered with a hundred names of departed guests. But most favored of all was he who received the sign itself-the venerable but ever-youthful effigy of the Sucking Pig, a treasure with crispest tail and half-shut eyes of perpetual contentment. The historical beast is to be carefully preserved, and will later on take a commanding position in the smoking-room of a literary club, which it is proposed to found, and whose favored members will bear the brave cognizance of the " Sucking Pigs."
